Apple's MacBook Pros Have Now Been Remade - sujansky ===== Someone1234 For what it is worth Apple still have a number of issues with their hardware (power supply problems, trackpad, touchpad, keyboard, etc). People have long been predicting an eventual death spiral for Apple. I think the last thing that could keep them alive is better products. The difference between a death spiral and a steady decline is huge. A steady decline just mean nothing new is released, while a death spiral means a steady decrease in quality. With Apple I think its likely they will decline, but not until some of their hardware lines have died. CARNEGIE HALL, Manhattan — A cheerleader for the New York Knicks was arrested Friday on the street near his team's practice gym, according to police. Robert "Zeus" Smith, 35, of Jersey City, New Jersey, was charged with a hate crime after allegedly yelling racial slurs at a black man and repeatedly punching him on West 52nd Street near 8th Avenue on Friday afternoon, The New York Daily News reported. "We are disappointed by this situation. We take these allegations seriously and have been in contact with law enforcement throughout the evening and into the night," a Knicks spokesman told Page Six. "We have nothing further to add at this time." The alleged victim's hands and legs were bleeding when cops arrived at the scene, according to The Daily News. The 32-year-old victim said Smith made a racial slur and punched him in the face at least five times, the newspaper reported. Smith, who served as a Knicks cheerleader in the late '90s, did not immediately respond to requests for comment. Smith, who was booked on a hate crime charge at the 28th precinct, was released without bail Friday night, according to police. in the morning, then I take my dog and my son
